THE TAMBOR BREWERY REPEATABLE UNIQUENESS

The origins of brewing beer in Dvůr Králové nad Labem date back to the 13th century. The burghers who owned the brewing rights built the ultimate new-time brewery in 1850. The last batch of beer was brewed there on 28 February 1979. Brewing of beer in this city was renewed precisely 30 years later: the brew house was consecrated and the first batch of beer in the new brewery was brewed on 28 February 2009. The idea of brewing beer was also ignited by the re-emergence of a high-quality source of water in Králův Dvůr. This water, which comes from a 130-meter-deep well, has the parameters of water suitable for new-born babies, and had to be handled with proper respect. This is what happened, and the new family brewery carried on the brewing tradition in Dvůr Králové nad Labem and launched its production of excellent beer using this water. Thus the brewery brought to the market a traditional local beer with a new original name of "TAMBOR." The high quality of the beer is given – along with the natural water – by selected Moravian malts and excellent Saaz hops. These ingredients and bottom fermentation give Tambor beer its characteristic, full, and delicately bitter flavour.

The brewery's portfolio includes 10° Plato draught beer, 11° Plato pale lager and 12° Plato pale lager "R. A. DVORSKY", 13° Plato dark special, 14° Plato semi-dark "Klazar" special, and "Abstinent" non-alcoholic beers. Along with the regular products, you can also purchase 0.75 litre special gift bottles with ceramic clip-on caps and special labels designed specifically for breweriana collectors and beer connoisseurs. The high quality of "Tambor" beer has been recognized through numerous awards. The 11° Plato lager won the gold medal at the Saaz Beer Harvest Festival twice, in 2009 and 2011, and ranks permanently among the top-class Czech beers. The brewery also won two significant prizes in 2001: the High Quality Certificate, and the Krkonoše Regional Product brand. This means that the product has undergone a strict process of certification, its production is environment-friendly, it has a close relation to the region, and was made in high quality using a traditional recipe. The Tambor Brewery is one of seven breweries in the Czech Republic that can offer a kosher beer.

"We hope our unique beer will become your favourite beer!"
